

Age in Action: The Necessity of Leisure and Physical Activity

Age in Action is published jointly by the Virginia Center on Aging, VCU Gerontology, and the Virginia Department for Aging and Rehabilitative Services. Its target audience includes professionals in the field of aging, gerontologists, geriatricians, health professionals and administrators, adult home and community professionals, students, and others interested in aging-related education and research in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

The newsletter includes articles from the collaborating organizations; profiles of professionals, organizations, or businesses in the field of aging; articles on topics of relevance, such as housing, health, guardianship, educational programs, legislative issues, available resources, etc.; updates on activities and organizations in or related to the field of aging; notices of meetings and conferences; and more. The newsletter welcomes input and submissions from its readers.

The Age in Action Necessity of Leisure and Physical Activity newsletter explores the importancen of leisure, recreation, and physical activity for older adults.

For more information on Age in Action, or to gain access to an online list of the issues published in recent years, please visit The Virginia Center on Aging \(VCoA\) Age in Action Newsletter page.

Article Source

Virginia Center on Aging

Source URL

<https://vcoa.chp.vcu.edu>

Last Reviewed

Sunday, August 13, 2023