Chimes Virginia provides support in the home for people living in their own home or with family members. Support is available for individuals who have intellectual or developmental disabilities. Participants make also have a co-occurring diagnosis, behaviorally challenges or visual or hearing impairments. Services are also available for individuals who are non-ambulatory, limited in mobility or who are on the autism spectrum. Support is offered to adults who are geriatric or shows sign of premature aging.

Services are based on the needs of the individual. These services may include training and support necessary for the person to complete personal care and independent living tasks. Supported Home Living also helps develop and improve community living skills.

In-home respite services are also provided for children, adolescents and adults.
