The Heritage Law Group specializing in Special Needs Planning for an individual with a disability. Disabling condition may result from illness, injury, accident, or aging. Special planning is desired to enhance the quality of life for a person with a disability without jeopardizing the government benefits that provide him or her with the essential services and support.

A special needs or supplemental needs trust can be established with a family member, spouse, child or in some cases, the person with a disability acting as the trustee.
