The Local Energy Alliance Program (LEAP) is a community-based non-profit with locations in Charlottesville and Fairfax, that provide local residents and property owners with a one-stop shop of who to call, what to do, and how to pay for it when it comes to creating a more comfortable, efficient and affordable home or building. Call for information about weatherization, solarization and energy assessments.

LEAP's mission is to lead the effort in our local community to conserve water and energy in buildings and promote cost savings, job creation, sustainability, local economic development and environmental stewardship. Through financing and the bundling of existing incentives from all levels of government and local utilities, LEAP helps home and building owners invest in efficiency.
