The Therapeutic Riding programs at Bridle Paths offers adapted riding instruction to children and adults with physical, cognitive, behavioral, and emotional needs. In addition to mounted instruction, lessons incorporate groundwork in horse care and horsemanship. Their therapeutic equines are carefully chosen for their temperament, training, and quality of movement. Plus each lesson is staffed with a certified instructor, and trained and committed volunteers to conduct lessons safely. Most of the therapeutic riding clients participate in weekly private lessons that are an hour in length and include both unmounted and mounted components.

As well as the Virginia counties and cities listed, Bridle Paths also opens business to the service area of Montgomery and Frederick, Maryland, and Martinsburg, West Virginia.
