The VCU Rehabilitation Research and Training Center's Employment Services offer Business Connections. A program that bridges the gap between employers looking for qualified and reliable employees and a pool of prescreened job applicants with disabilities that have the proper supports in place for long-term success. They seek to make the best job matches possible.

The program continues to provide a demonstration of how community-based competitive employment can become a reality for all individuals who desire to work.

Serving Individuals and Family Members; and Employers.
