

The Arc ~ Digital Literacy Creates Opportunities

Have you checked out the Arc's free digital skills training for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities?

Developed together with AT&T and The Arc San Francisco, the plain language training helps people with disabilities learn how to navigate new technology. Technology can make it easy to access education and employment opportunities and can help people stay connected to family and friends.

Through online training webinars, you'll learn how to:

- Get started with computers, mobile devices, and video conferencing
- Navigate websites and search engines
- Understand online safety, passwords, fraud, and scams
- And more

We also have in-person workshops available in 26 regions.
