Event Description

Lifetime Learning Institute Northern Virginia (LLI/NOVA)'s April Forum is Waiting for the Raptors. LLI/NOVA, a learning group for adults over 50, will hold its next Forum in person on Wednesday, April 2, 2025, from 10 - 11 am at the Little River United Church of Christ in Annandale. The speaker will be Josephine Doumbia, a naturalist with the Northern Virginia Bird Alliance (NVBA). She will talk about the spring return to our region of hawks, eagles, and falcons, all raptor birds of prey that play a critically important role in ecosystem health.

After a 25-year career with the World Bank focusing on environmental sustainability issues, Ms. Doumbia is now using her global expertise as a board member with various local environmental groups, including the NVBA, Nature Forward, and Faith Alliance for Climate Solutions.

This program is free and open to the public without registration. More information is on the LLI website by clicking on Classes and Events, and scrolling down the calendar to the date.

This program is part of the LLI's monthly Forum Series held the first Wednesday of each month. LLI also provides more than 130 classes, programs, and excursions a year to its members. More information on membership in LLI is available on LLI's website. Any questions please email admin@llinova.org.
